Conference Commissioner Visited, Skyline Officiating Situation Aired

by Ray Tracy
Daily Universe Writer

AFTER severely criticizing Mountain States Athletic Commissioner L. C. Romney in an editorial on the issue of present officiating conditions in the Skyline Conference, a committee composed of members of the Daily Universe staff presented Romney with a list of "constructive criticisms" Wednesday afternoon.

The Daily Universe has, in two articles, presented Romney's point of view on the subject and now prints suggestions which were recommended by the officiating improvement committee.

1. IT IS recommended that under the present system of rating officials, none with an average rating of less than "two", in the coaches poll, be allowed to officiate in Skyline varsity games.

It is recommended that written reports be made to the commissioner by officials, (especially concerning technical fouls), after each game. These reports should be made available to the coaches and possibly the press. They should, in general, sum up the officials' feeling of how the game progressed.

IT IS FELT THAT coaches should be called with a technical foul for illegal demonstrations on the sidelines. This is a touchy point, because game officials are rated by the coaches and are therefore reluctant to offend them directly.

To remedy this, perhaps a method could be worked out whereby coaches would not be allowed to rate the official who called technical fouls on them for particular games.

3. A MORE thorough training program should be instituted for officials in the Skyline Conference. A school, approximately three weeks in duration should be established.

No referee or umpire should be allowed to officiate in the Skyline varsity games unless he has been graduated from this training school. Visiting officials from other conferences who do not regularly officiate at skyline games would, of course, be the exception to this rule.

4. IN ADDITION to the required training before becoming a MSAC official, each man should attend an annual two-week clinic, in which demonstrations and discussions are utilized in giving these officials a strong background and understanding of basketball officiating.

5. Officials should take more pride in their task, and be more conscientious in fulfilling their responsibilities at games. They should develop a fearless type personality. A referee develops crowd respect by this type of action.

THIS IS directly related to crowd sportsmanship, since an official who is able to keep the coaches' reactions confined to less demonstrative procedure oftentimes holds the key to crowd reactions — particularly booing.

6. A general campaign should be conducted throughout the skyline conference to promote more respect for officials. This might take the form of familiarizing the conference with the referees through newspaper releases, TV, radio.

ABOVE ALL, the Daily Universe feels the public should be made aware—especially student partisans—that programs are in effect which are designed to improve the quality of officiating, and to aid the officials in their work.

FEDERAL Post Office at Brigham Young University announced Wednesday that it will be closed all day Friday, Feb. 22, Washington's Birthday, is a national holiday.

Region V Slates IK Conference Here Saturday

CROWNING a queen of Intercollegiate Knights will be a high-light of the Region V IK conference on the Brigham Young University campus Saturday.

Registration will be in the Smith Family Living Center from 9 to 10 a.m. after which the first general meeting will open.

Paul Webb, duke of the "Gold Y" chapter will conduct the meetings. Raymond Beckham, advisor of the chapter, will address this opening session.

Delegates to the conference are expected from the University of Utah, Utah State College, Westminster College, College of Southern Utah and Humboldt College, Arcata, Calif.

Each school will bring its IK queen to the conference for the regional judging. Representing BYU is Klea Haynie, Los Angeles. Judges will be J. Roman Andrus, William G. Dyer and Mrs. Margaret Potter.

Elections for regional vicerey and expansion officer will be conducted. Cordell Lufkin and Lynne Hemenway are BYU's candidates for these posts.

'Belle of Y' Contest Open to All Coeds

BELLE of the Y applications must be turned in to the Student Coordinator's office by noon Friday, according to Kay Brockbank, publicity chairman.

All interested girls may apply. Candidates do not have to be sponsored by an organization, Miss Brockbank stressed.

During Belle of the Y Week, March 3-8, all applicants will be rated on these qualities. The winner will be named queen and reign over the Belle of the Y Dance, Miss Brockbank said.

International Aid...

BYU Role Discussed At Regional Seminar

by Barbara Miller

TWO IMPORTANT areas of inter-school relations and Brigham Young University's role in the college world are under consideration by the National Student Association on campus.

Murray McInnes, NSA coordinator for BYU, reported on a planning session for the Utah Regional International Seminar held Tuesday and specified requirements for the new NSA delegates.

The seminar, to be held at the University of Utah April 4, 5, and 6, will be concerned with foreign student relations on U.S. campuses and the improvement of international relations between students.

BYU DELEGATES to this seminar will be chosen from interested students who have a desire to improve and better understand world campus relations and understanding. Any person interested can obtain an application for the regional seminar in the studentbody office, Student Service Center. Delegates will be chosen from these applicants.

After regional seminars are held by member colleges around the country, 15 outstanding delegates will be offered an opportunity to attend the International Seminar being held in Cambridge, Mass., during July and August.

THIS SEMINAR is designed to develop a select group of individuals who will be able to contribute to the development of NSA international programming on the member campuses.

These delegates will also aid in the planning of effective international programs on member campuses, informing these campuses of the programs and policies of NSA in relation to its overseas contacts and interesting qualified students in participating in the international activities of NSA.

SELECTION of a new NSA coordinator and five other NSA delegates for BYU is underway according to McInnes. The coordinator and other delegates will be chosen or appointed by the present coordinator and student body president with a confirming vote of the appointments being given by the Senate and studentbody president elect.

The NSA coordinator will be comparable to a foreign ambassador, according to Monroe McKay, studentbody president. Since the BYU student government is constructed on the same system as that of the federal government the role of foreign relations, that is relations between BYU and other universities, cannot be ignored.

IT WILL BE THE responsibility of this coordinator to carry ideas and methods from BYU to other campuses and to bring back their ideas and methods.

The six delegates will attend the NSA Congress to be held in Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 21 to 31. Besides the NSA coordinator the delegation will consist of the studentbody president elect, and four other members.

Snowless Carnival Ends With Dance

Balloons and animal silhouettes are to be the decorations at the Snow Circus Dance Saturday at 8:30 p.m., according to dance chairman Richard Hunter.

Refreshments will consist of cake rolls and lemon-lime punch.

The dance in the Smith Fieldhouse will have music by the "Y's Men" and the Smith Family Living Center will hear the Jerry Hyde Combo.

Dress will be heels and hose. Tickets will be $.75 per couple and $.50 stag.

Tickets are being sold in advance at the Smith Building, the Eyring Science Center and the McKay Building. Hunter urges students to get tickets in advance because of a limited supply.

Coed Vocalist Sought

A semi-classical, feminine vocalist is being sought by the Student Program Bureau.

The vocalist will be used with tours of the SPB next quarter. It is asked that the singer not be affiliated with the music department.

Those coeds interested in auditioning contact Juana Dalton at the program bureau office before Friday or call extension 2531.

IF HE WILL

A MAN CONVINCED against his will — is of the same opinion still!

This idea sums up the impression we received after presenting a list of "constructive criticisms" on Skyline officiating to Mountain States Athletic Commissioner L. C. Romney.

Certainly Mr. Romney is sincere and earnest about his job, and certainly he has done great service to coaches, players and sports fans throughout the mountain states region.

HE HAS INITIATED many new programs to aid Skyline officials and promote the conference as a whole. Among them, he has supported a rating system for officials, and has served on the national basketball rules committee.

He has obtained national TV hookups for Skyline games. And he has created a referee pool which is conference-wide.

But the facts still remain, that in spite of Mr. Romney's splendid record, the Skyline Conference has grown faster than the present system of providing officials.

ALTHOUGH we do not condone being under any circumstances, we feel that the steady rise of bad sportsmanship, particularly the booing of officials at Brigham Young University games is a direct result of poor officiation.

No one has the right to boo an official who is well trained and is enforcing the rules of the game as best he sees them. But unless referees keep the coaches from jumping up and illegally ranting around, booing will persist!

UNLESS referees are given more efficient training, and selected in a better way, booing will persist.

If the public is not shown that definite steps are being taken to improve Skyline officiating, booing will still persist!

So, we are hoping that Mr. Romney doesn't take "with a grain of salt" the suggestions for improvement that the Daily Universe officiating improvement committee has given him—and that he is convinced not against his will, but so he will . . .

Eyesight?...

Dear Editor:

Does the work of the Better English Committee extend to the Universe staff? If so, the feature writers, among others, are due for a purging.

Do Daily Universe writers ever pass Freshman English? If so, there must be absolutely no transfer of knowledge.

At the risk of sounding like a stuffy English teacher, which I am, I should like to say that you certainly do not lighten the load of other stuffy English teachers by printing such statements as: "You can lay outside and soak up sunshine from the sky, and the moisture from the ground," and: "This might be a parting thought, I don't know for sure, but girls are boys best weather friends, but don't let an early touch of spring fever overcome you so much that you wind up snowed." These are not just isolated examples. Other such tidbits can be gleaned nearly every day.

Realize that a newspaper operates under a deadline pressure. I realize that a newspaper is allowed a certain amount of journalistic license, but I do think the staff should improve either its English or its eyesight.

Soaking Wet...

Dear Sir:

Recently the hub-bub over inter-school rivalry made it advisable for us to put nightly guards on the campus.

The presence of unidentified visitors during that week proved the wisdom of this move. May I express my appreciation to the IOC for its help in organizing these last minute groups. The boys went out from eight at night until four in the morning. I should specifically like to note the help of the Vikings, Tausigs, Val Hyrics, D-6, Y Marines, Sigma Mu Sigma, and the Sabers.

When I walked across the campus late Friday night and saw the Tausigs walking their posts soaking wet and chatted with them and discovered their wonderful spirit and enthusiasm, I felt a deep sense of appreciation for the loyalty and willingness of all of these groups.

Just Hagglng...

Dear Editor:

THE WRITER of the column, From The Tower, appearing in the Daily Universe, Feb. 11, leveled several charges against the Student Senate. One of these was a charge of "childish haggling" over whether or not a senator should be given the floor to speak.

Although the columnist is entitled to state her views, I believe that she presumes too much when she claims to be speaking for the voters.

MY BASIC FAITH in this studentbody is such that I believe that if they were to see the charge in the light of evidence, they would be the first to condemn the opinion of the columnist.

The Senator referred to attempted to gain the floor to give a report. The presiding officer advised him that the time specified in the agenda for giving reports had passed and that he was out of order.

HOWEVER, THE SENATOR was advised that he could move to have the agenda suspended. He made this motion, and it did not pass. The meeting was about to proceed when it was called to the attention of the presiding officer that the time for giving reports actually had not passed. This point of order was sustained, and the Senator was given the floor to make the report.

This action—all in accordance with established rules of parliamentary procedure—was labeled "childish haggling" by the Universe reporter.

THE ISSUE basically is this: How should the right to speak be determined? Should the power to decide be given to the presiding officer? Obviously, if this were done, all the "childish haggling" described above would have to be eliminated. But this poses another question. Do the voters prefer to let a presiding officer determine when their representative shall be able to speak or present their views?

OF COURSE, this gives the right to deprive from speaking as well, for each time a person gains the floor all others are deprived of the right to speak. Hence, would the voters prefer to give the presiding officer the right to deprive their representative from speaking? This, I believe, each voter should decide for himself.

In speaking for myself, as a voter, I can firmly state that I would far rather have the right to be heard governed by rules of fair procedure, i.e. Parliamentary Procedure, as was the case in the described incident.

FURTHERMORE, I hope that if my representative ever feels that he is being deprived of his right he will use every measure of "childish haggling" (i.e. parliamentary or "fair" procedure) to gain the floor and express his views. A representative body is of no value to me if my representative is prevented from gaining the floor.

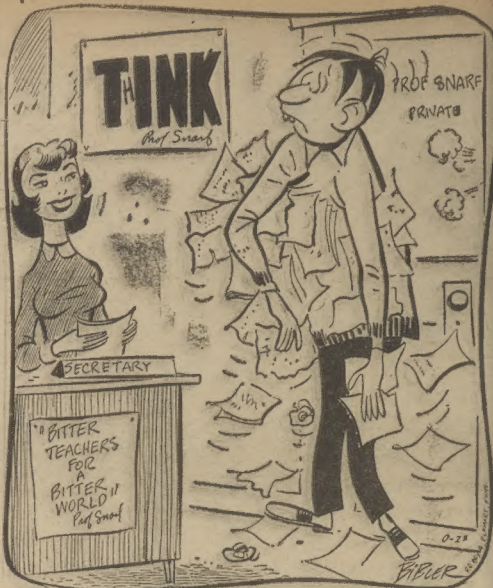

In conclusion let it be known that the five minutes of "haggling" were probably more nearly two minutes and that as a Senator I shall continue to do all in my power to protect those rules which give me the right to speak and represent my constituents.

Dennis Olsen
Senate President

(Ed. Note: Students are invited to attend Senate sessions to determine whether or not "haggling" is descriptive of the Senate conduct.)

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"THAT DIDN'T TAKE LONG—HOW'D HE LIKE YOUR TERM PAPER?"

Off Beat

by Gene Barlow

WELL, HERE WE are again at the end of "Pleb Season". Everything has happened this last week on our generally quiet campus.

A scattering of Tausig "goats" allegedly released two bewildered doves in the main lobby of the Eyring Science Center. To the delight of several coeds the trapped birds fluttered about the two story entrance hall for several minutes before seeking refuge on an isolated window sill.

One wonders whether to feel sorry for the perched fowls or for the "goats" who proceeded to foully serenade them.

Don't give up Plebs. You've just got "Hell Court" to go now.

Brent (Sam Johnson) Hollingworth remarked, "The five dollars that we pay for parking privileges must be going to improve the faculty lots. It sure looks like it by comparing the two."

By the way those pink slips, found tucked under auto wiper blades, are falling fast about campus this quarter. Our Security Patrol will be "much stricter this quarter" in regard to parking time limits, proclaimed the Security Office.

EVEN GOV. KNIGHT of California, on his recent visit to our campus, returned to his parked car to find a poor patrolman jotting down his license plate number. What a way to treat visitors on our fair (?) campus.

"HOW DID YOU KNOW THAT I'M AN ENGINEER?"

Something has to be done about BYU's parking system.

KIMBALL HALL recently had a "Buddy Party" when all the girls got blind dates and went tobogganing at "Timp Haven."

Speaking of blind dates, Dixie Reynolds came back from the affair almost blind. She is now sporting a beautiful "shiner."

Sharon Reid will be studying standing up for a while. It seems she collected a few splinters from one of the older toboggans.

No other casualties were reported and I understand that all had a "fab" time.

WE HEAR THAT the Daily Universe's own "voluptuous sports writer" is heading the BYU chapter of the Harry Anderson Fan Club.

All students wishing to join said club should contact "Little Vic" at Ex. 3541.

We've heard through the grape vine that the girls of Heritage Halls apt. 1810 concluded their breakfast early one morning when Florine Bremer cracked open her egg and a "soft-boiled unborn baby embryo" fell to her plate.

Moral to this note is to never trust the egg unless you ask the hen itself if it's fresh.

RON SAFSTEN, Anti-fem Club president is reported to have violated his code of office ment, Pat Robins to a basketball and escorted, under encouragement and victory party.

Impeachment charges of Safsten will soon be under way by present active members of the "no-women" Club.

should give more support to game officials and help to defend them against undue criticism—but they should work to see that cause for criticism seldom arises.

7. IT IS FELT that if three officials worked each game there would be more complete coverage and a more orderly and sportsmanlike game would result.

This, we realize, would necessitate change in rules. We feel, however, it is of sufficient importance to merit consideration. Three officials were on the floor for the BYU freshman-Hill Air Force game Feb. 19, with excellent results.

At the outset it is realized that there are problems involved in the adopting of these suggestions of which we are not aware.

AS A STUDENT newspaper that is vitally interested in the sportsmanship of crowds at BYU basketball games, we feel it in the best interests of the university and the conference to request that these suggestions and recommendations be given careful consideration.

Upon reading the suggestions submitted by the committee, Romney said he believed that

Library To Offer Classification, Reference Course

by JoAnn Long
Daily Universe Writer

A course is now being offered that teaches the basic classification system, use of the card catalog, and the use of reference tools, such as periodical indexes, encyclopedias in library.

This course, entitled Library Science 11, carries two hours of credit and may prove invaluable to those who normally limp along year after year trying to avoid use of the library because they don't know how to use it.

Mrs. Hattie M. Knight, supervisor of library science, reports that one afternoon of observance in the reference room would convince anyone that students waste an appalling amount of time in the library each day.

She said that this is easily seen by the type of questions asked at the desk. Then too, it is doubtful whether the more timid person even asks questions.

these suggestions come from sound thinking, and that the "commission will give full consideration to them." He stated that if "some of them cannot be put into practice as such, then perhaps good substitutes might be found.

AWS Applications Due Friday; Duties of Officers Outlined

Petitions are still available for Associated Women Students offices, according to Janice Hull, elections chairman.

Those wishing to file petitions must do so at once, since they must be turned in to the AWS office by 5 p.m. Friday, Miss Hull said.

Bonnie Berrett, AWS president, outlined the officers' duties.

The president conducts all meetings. She is a member of the cabinet, senate, and health committee and organizes all AWS activities.

Duties of the vice-president are to substitute for the president whenever possible and to advise the Junior AWS council and coordinate all their activities.

Responsibilities of the secretary include all correspondence. She also takes the minutes, keeps the scrapbook and performs various secretarial duties.

The treasurer regulates all financial duties and plans the budget for the year.

"AND IT CAME to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel . . . and slew him." (Gen. 4:8)

Thursday evening Milt Kane rose up and led his Utah brothers in a slaughter, only this time the victim was, to all appearances, "unable."

An exceedingly inept Brigham Young University basketball squad, playing one of their most disastrous games this year, dropped a lopsided 88-66 contest

Promoter Cancels Fullmer-Durando Fight In Denver

Due to a cut received over his left eye in a recent bout with Ernie Durando, Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer will be unable to fight his ten round, non-title bout with Charley Cotton February 27th in Denver.

Denver promoter, Joe Dupler, made the cancellation announcement Tuesday night at the request of Fullmer's manager, Marv Jensen. Dupler stated that the nationally televised fight will still be held with Cotton throwing punches at Ralph "Tiger" Jones instead of Fullmer.

Fullmer was to fight "King" Cotton as a warm up for his return championship bout with Ray Robinson April 24th, but Jensen doesn't want to take a chance on further injury to Fullmer's eye.

to a Utah team that seemed able to do no wrong.

THE REDSKINS jumped off to the initial lead, and were never headed by a cold Cougar five, Kane, the Ute with the shooting eye and fast hands, although bottled up well for a good part of the contest, managed to slip 21 points through the hoop to lead both teams in the tally-making department.

What was the reason for the Cats' poor showing, probably the worse they have made since the Michigan State fiasco at the start of the season? The secret appears to be in the lack of outside shooting for the Brigham.

TOM STEINKE, the Cougar long shot ace, although suited up, spent the game squirming on the bench. It seems that Steinke's ankle, after some fast improvement the first part of the week, was still tender enough that Coach Stan Watts decided not to risk having him re-injure it.

Steinke went through the pregame drills, but when his ankle got warm it still bothered him. Coach Watts felt that it was better to have the high-scoring guard ride this tilt out on the bench, rather than use him and possibly have him out for the rest of the season.

AND NO ONE else on the Cat squad seemingly could hit the long shot during the game. That allowed the Utes to tighten up their zone defense tighter than usual, and put the old whammy on the Brigham's inside shooting too.

All in all, the Cougars couldn't beg, borrow or steal two pointers in the opening period. The Cats were able to pick up only six field goals in the first half, shooting a phenomenally low 13.6 per cent from the field in the opening period. The Utes, on the other hand, were pouring through 33.3 per cent of their tries from the field during the first twenty minutes.

CURT JENSON and Pearl Pollard were the Redskins that kept the Utah pot boiling during the opening period of play. Jenson, picking up 12 of his 18 points for the evening in the first half, scored first in the ball game, and kept the Cats hopping with his deadly jump shot. Pollard, scoring 10 of his 18 points in the opening stanza, was a continual thorn in the Brigham's side with his tip-ins and backboard play.

JOHN BENSON hit for ten points in the first period to keep the Cats in the game. At the half Utah held a 36-22 advantage.

BYU came back out on the court looking like they were going to catch the renegade Redskins and pass them up on the scoreboard.

The Brigham hit for 6 points on three field goals in the first two minutes of the second odd, but then the Utah roared back with six points their own before the Cats were able to again find the range.

THAT WAS the last real lunge to the Utes' win as the Cats made by the Cougar the evening.

Coach Watts, at first stalling to try and find a combination that would work against the Utah club, finally settling in the reserves to start his starters for the Montana Saturday. Coach Jack Galt also began clearing his bench trying out different player combinations against the Cats.

All together, 27 players saw action in the game, 14 for Utah and 13 for BYU.

The one bright spot for Cougar fans in Salt Lake City Tuesday night was the 71-65 of the Kittens handed the Papooses. The win gave them the mythical Beelzebub title.

Cats Journey To Montana In Road Finals

by Mark Murphy

Saturday's tilt between Montana and Brigham Young was carefully shrouded with a mist of doubt.

Can the league-leading weather the storm in Salt against Utah and still enough reserve to take on tough Silvertips?

Can Tom Steinke's ankle endure the guelling pace of a with the speedy Red's Thursday and still hold Missoula?

Will the seemingly unsable home-court advantage up for the Grizzlies?

Most of all, can the Cougars clinch the Skyline crown a victory over Coach Cox's Montanans.

It's not much fun to be ferfer nervous hysteria the Cougars apparently the conference bunting tie with a three-game lead.vided they got over Utah) traveling through the wastes of Montana's north has led to the downfall of title aspirants.

Losses to Utah and Montana would put the Brigham's 'cat on a hot tin roof' situation. Twin setbacks would not excite Coach Stan Watts, would provide Denver the velous opportunity of knocking the Cougars out of the title.

Miracles have happened pecially in Skyline sports.

For the Cougars it will their final venture on hazardous road of Mountain States basketball.

Montana is going to be thing but easy for the whether they conquer Utah not.

Montanans are through the Grizzly hoop wars in their granddaddies hurried stake mining claims a ago.

They're proud of this team, and would pay plenty way of praise should the 'uns from Provo get clubbed.

The rough Grizzlies have ten straight games on the map and are out to make eleven against the Cats.

Denver hurt the Montana championship hopes by the visiting Silvertips 55-53 weekend.

Their most recent against New Mexico marked a milestone in Montana basketball. The 36-33 win was tana's first Skyline victory from home since Feb. 28, when they edged the same less Lobos.

Fite Nite Features Wrestling, Boxing In Rescheduled Match

The Associated Men's Student Committee has announced that the 5th annual Intramural Fite Night has been slated for March 9th.

Previously the annual contest was scheduled for April 19th. However, the promoters thought that the student interest would have been sidetracked by the conflict of other Spring activities.

Competition in the manly arts of wrestling and boxing is open to any men students interested except boxers or wrestlers who have obtained a Varsity letter, either at Brigham Young University or at any other four year college.

Matches have been arranged in every weight division, and these conflicts should provide plenty of action for the fans.

According to Bill Hafen, Intramural director, all entries to participate in any of the competitions must be accompanied by a physical report that has been certified by a doctor. In order to facilitate this, the required forms have been made available by the Intramural department, and will be handed out between Feb. 25-28.

Weigh-in time for the participants will be Feb. 28th in the main dressing room of the Smith Fieldhouse, between 4 and 5:30 p.m.

For those who enter the tournament and desire to workout between now and the preliminaries, the wrestling and boxing rooms will be open on Feb. 21, 25, 26, 27, and 28th, between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

The winner in each division will be presented with an individual medal, while social units and clubs will be given points toward the Supremacy Trophy. Enough points will be handed out during the contest to enable any club to gain possession of the coveted trophy.
